The Place Made Vacant in President Roosevelt's Cabinet by the Death of Secretary Hay

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—Elihu Root has accepted the position as Secretary of State tendered him by President Roosevelt.

Secretary Loeb gave out the following announcement last night:

"Elihu Root has accepted the tender of the president of the secretaryship of state.

"He will take the oath of office in about two weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he can close up his business in New York. He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September."

Mr. Root's formal and definite reply to the president's offer was received this morning.

A GRIM TRAGEDY

Is daily enacted in thousands of homes, as Death claims in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the Consumption and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c, and $1 by the Anti-Monopoly Drugstore. Trial bottles free.

SPOILED HER BEAUTY

Harriet Howard of 209 W. 34th St., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble. She writes: "I had Salt Rheum and Eczema for years, but nothing would cure it, until I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve." A quick and sure healer for cuts, burns and sores. 25c, at the Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

TIPPOO TURNED UP HIS TOES

Death at Zanzibar of a Famous Central African Chief

New York, July 8.—Authentic word has been received here of the death of Tippoo Tib, who was best known in connection with Stanley's Central African explorations. Tippoo Tib's real name was Hamud ben Mohammed. He was of Arab origin and was born about the year 1857. It is thought, in Zanzibar, where his death also occurred. He rose to be a successful slave hunter and became a renowned potentate in Equatorial Africa.

Before the struggle for Africa began, he established a great chain of slave stations in the Congo regions. When the Free State was formed the avowed object was to develop the resources of the territory with the aid of the natives. The security resources at the command of the state, however, obliged the officers who were brought into relation with the Arabs on the upper river to adopt a policy of non-interference. Of these Arabs Tippoo Tib was the chief.

Tippoo Tib was not unfriendly to Europeans and Americans. Dr. Livingstone had met him in 1857, and in 1874 he had accompanied Cameron to the delta of the Congo, while in 1879 he had joined Stanley in his first descent of the river. But the relations of the Europeans and Arabs had gradually become more strained; the free way of life that the progress of the white man's rule in the country would inevitably bring, was not welcomed by the Arabs. In 1888 they attacked and captured Stanley's camp under Rohlfs, a member of Tippoo Tib. The Free State was then restored for a trial of strength, and on Stanley's suggestion Tippoo Tib was appointed viceroy of the Falls as the representative of King Leopold.

The inevitable, however, soon afterward happened. A conflict was precipitated by the Arabs, several battles were fought and their power was finally broken. Tippoo Tib was exiled to Zanzibar, where he died, one of the last of the many picturesque figures of the old regime in Africa.

WHY SHOULD HE ASK

Hasn't Rockefeller Sense Enough to Know That the People Know the Money He is Giving Away is Taken From Them

"Why do people abuse me so? Can it be possible that I am regarded as an enemy of civilization?"

These words, remarkable as they may seem, come from John D. Rockefeller. Is it possible that a man possessing the remarkable intellect and talents which are Mr. Rockefeller's could in mainly sincerity ask such a question?

Does Mr. Rockefeller think that because the common people have for years supinely submitted to the robberies of the Standard Oil Company that they are "outtyheaded fools?"

A man who has in such a masterly manner combined the oil interests of the larger part of the world, restrained trade, crushed opposition, combined all kindred interests and built the king of the robber trusts, simply makes himself ridiculous by asking such questions as the above.

If he would stop for one moment and through the window of his mind look upon the tens of thousands of instances where his concern has crushed honest competition and robbed people of their inherent right to purchase a commodity in open market from honest competitors, he might be saved the trouble of asking foolish questions and would know why millions of people experience a feeling of revulsion when they hear his name.—Tampa Herald.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Child Not Expected to Live From One Hour to Another, but Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, of Agnewville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well." This remedy is for sale by the Postoffice Drugstore.

A FAMILY ARTICLE

It was in a large public school. "Maty, you must throw away that chewing gum. I cannot stand it any longer!" exclaimed the teacher to a little ragged, dark-skinned girl of foreign extraction, says Jakes.

The chawing ceased. A short time afterward, however, Maty, with her thoughts about something else, forgot, and the chawing began vigorously again.

"Maty, didn't I tell you to throw away your chewing gum? Bring it to me!"

"Please ma'am, it belongs to Aunt Hattie, and if I don't give it back to her tonight she'll kill me."

KENTUCKY YARNS

Out on the veranda of a little Kentucky hotel several "colonels" were sitting under palms and telling yarns about the weather, says the Detroit Tribune.

"When Ah was up in them mountains, sah," said a lanky old gentleman, "it began to rain one afternoon and before then shower was evan there was fish all over them ground. Bass, trout and carp fell right out of them clouds, sah."

The old gentleman who was rather caparisoned placed his glass on the table and said:

"Ouford, that was a pretty good yarn, but it don't tech thaw experience. Ah had forty miles south of Franklin, Whar, sah, it began to rain that one day and fish came down by thaw ten. But that isn't thaw strangest of it. A thunder storm arose, thaw lightning struck thaw field and fried thaw fish just as nice as if they was fried in thaw own kitchen, and—"

But the other "colonels" had fed.

COLLARED A COLLIER

The Kniaz Potemkin Held Up a British Vessel—Another Ship Secedes From the Russian Navy

Theodosia, July 8.—The reports regarding the bombardment of Theodosia are untrue. Order is fully maintained in the town by troops. Before leaving Theodosia the Kniaz Potemkin sighted a British collier which she followed seaward and from which she took a quantity of coal.

Every Little Helps

St. Petersburg, July 8.—It is reported that the crew of the battleship Catherine II. of the Black Sea fleet, has joined the mutineers. She is of little fighting value.

Hot on the Trail

St. Petersburg, July 8.—The Kniaz Potemkin escaped from Theodosia before the Black Sea fleet arrived from Sebastopol, and as the fleet did not put into Theodosia it is presumed that the warships are in pursuit of the Kniaz Potemkin. Advices received by the admiralty, are meager and most conflicting.

The torpedo boat destroyer Smetlani, manned by a crew of officers and blue jackets who volunteered to sink the mutineer, reached Theodosia several hours after the Kniaz Potemkin had departed, and after hurriedly coaling the Smetlani put to sea, presumably in pursuit of the rebel battleship.

THE OTHER SIDE

The Watkinsville Lynchers Had Some Reason for Their Terrible Action

As was surmised there is another side to the recent wholesale lynching at Watkinsville, Ga., where several persons who were held on charges of nominal nature were lynched. Reputable citizens now show that the white man and the negroes who were lynched have been handed together for several years for the purpose of robbery and murder and have terrorized the community, but they were never before caught dead to rights.—Exchange.
